CheckResearch

Usage: checkresearch

Example: checkresearch

Prints out a list of research techs that can be researched in the city. This list is relative to the city where the command is run, meaning CheckResearch will validate all of the tech and their requirements then make sure that the city meets those requirements. Only the techs that have all of their requirements met will be listed.

Research

Usage: research techname or research speed/cost

Example: research compass research quickest research construction research dearest

This command will perform a research of the valid tech argument in the city that it is run from. As an option, you can run a checkresearch command to see what is available to you, this will allow you to tailor the script to something that you are currently not researching, but this command is just a visual for the end user, as the research command itself invisibly performs this check automatically.
